GBS Public Art Collaborative creates hallway mural

A group of Glenbrook South High School students creates public artwork including the recent hallway mural shown above, based on the African concept of Ubuntu: I am because we are. Public Art Collaborative is a club led by English teacher Scott Glass. This installation is a wonderful example the power of public art.

The GAL hopes to join with other local groups in organizing and promoting public artwork, including temporary and permanent murals. Interested? Send the GAL an email and we’ll keep you updated on upcoming activities and discussions.

Attend the Youth Art Fair, April 9!

The Glenview Art League's 33rd Annual Youth Art Fair will be held, in person at Attea Middle School on Saturday, April 9. Find all the details and register here. This event is fun, free, and open to young artists through grade 12, in and outside of Glenview. This year’s Youth Art Fair will be dedicated in memory of Lee Mariani. There are many opportunities to get involved, both before and on the day of the YAF.

Also on April 9: Glenbrook South High School is hosting free community art workshop for children grades K-6 taught by members of Glenbrook South’s National Art Honor Society. Workshops are from 11 a.m. - 12 p.m. and 1-2 p.m. If you know young artists, they can make a full day of art and attend both! Contact gbsnahs@glenbrook225.org for more information.

Help us plan future Art Demonstrations!

The Glenview Art League as a long tradition of hosting fine art demonstrations. These events are free, open to the public, ADA accessible, and support the GAL's mission of promoting the development and study of fine art in the community. We currently host six demos per year, usually on the first Tuesday of the month at 7 p.m., in September, October, November, February, March, and May.

Does this schedule working well for you? Do you prefer in-person or online events (or both)? See the GAL website for a short online survey, or share your thoughts and recommendations by phone, email or postal mail. Thank you!

Summer Art Fair, July 30-31: Call for Artists and Volunteers

Join us to exhibit in the Glenview Art League's Summer Art Fair. Conveniently located on the inviting, tree-filled lawn of Lyon School in a northern suburb of Chicago.

This volunteer-run event is a beloved community tradition dating back to the 1950s. Crowds are drawn in by fine artwork and fine craft, as well as social and traditional media promotion and live music. Find an online application, printable application at the GAL website. Email glenviewartleague@att.net to volunteer.

The Glenview Art League is a 501c3 nonprofit organization advancing the study and development of fine art in our community. Donations are tax deductible. You can make a donation online at our website. Consider choosing the GAL as your charity of choice on Amazon Smile.
